ABOUT ACVS

Founded in 1965, the American College of Veterinary Surgeons (ACVS) is the specialty board that sets the standards for advanced professionalism in veterinary surgery. ACVS is the AVMA-recognized veterinary specialty organization™ for certification of veterinarians in large animal surgery and small animal surgery. ACVS defines the standards of surgical excellence for the profession, promotes advancements in veterinary surgery, and provides the latest in veterinary surgery education. ACVS helps the veterinary profession achieve its goals of providing outstanding service to the public and care to animals by fostering the highest standards of excellence in veterinary surgery.

WHAT ACVS PROVIDES
